THE CHALLENGE:

Manually sorting and processing overseas medical records from the 1920's to the present day. The multiple steps and processes involved for sequencing, classification, verification and preparing the wide variety of document types including X-rays was extremely costly and sacrificed speed.

OUR SOLUTION:

Combining Mavro Software and OPEX Scanners to create an efficient, secure and accurate capture platform to convert paper records. All folder contents of different paper sizes, colors, brittle and damaged documents, and X-ray film are scanned on the OPEX Falcon® with an integrated light table and high resolution camera.

The Mavro solution processes all scanned records as a single process. It then provides indexing, classification and full-page recognition to deliver searchable PDF/A and XML metadata files stored in the Mavro Connect™ Web Portal. End-to-end encryption secures data from the moment of image capture.

✓ Labor and Time Savings

Extended hours are no longer spent classifying and sorting paperwork. The significant cost savings made for a rapid ROI.

✓ 99.5% Accuracy

Fewer physical touches and manual functions leave less room for error. Smart Batching™ helps Phoenix Data operate with tremendous accuracy.

✓ Productivity Tracking

Mavro's Dashboard gives managers real-time visibility of operator scanning, batch tracking and productivity statistics in incredible detail.

✓ Increased Employee Satisfaction

Eliminating manual sorting lets staff focus on value-added tasks and provides ergonomic benefits that boost productivity.
